

Introduction

Growing technologies and advancement in business development is increasing at an exponential rate. Many tourist spots are sprouting and other factors which depend on them are also growing parallelly like restaurants, cafes, parks, malls etc. Mainly the idea for choosing a new place to open a restaurant involves many things like the popularity of that place, other kind of similar restaurants in that locality, Number of tourist visits per month/year and so on. Above all that money plays a major role for the same. So a wise decision should be made.

Business problem

With the above discussed thing in mind, I would like to address the issue of choosing a right place for opening a restaurant so that it would be a win-win for both owners and tourists.
